

CLAS 1123

Introduction to Roman Civilization

The main facets of ancient Roman civilization (its history, thought, and art) with particular attention paid to those features which determine the nature and extent of its contribution to western civilization.
