

HIST 1713

War and the World: Global Military History since 1500

This course surveys major developments in global military history since 1500. Emphasis will be placed on the impact of new technologies, weapons, environments, tactics and strategies, but continuities in the conduct of war will also be considered. A global perspective is crucial to this course.
