

HIST 2503

Slavery and Freedom in the Age of Lincoln

The defining moment of the American experience in the nineteenth century was the Civil War. Examining the development of slavery, the changing nature of antebellum society, and the growing political dispute between the North and South, this course will explore the revolutionary transformation produced by the struggle over slavery and freedom.
