

HIST 3203

Unlocking the Archival Record

---

Through the application of preserving and making available archival collections in original and digital formats, this hands-on course examines archival principles and processes. It explores the purpose of records creation and the place of archives in society to gain an understanding of the role of documents within the educational setting and the context of heritage institutions and knowledge mobilization.

---